THE following Extract of a Letter from Brigadier-General Nicols, dated Port Royal, Grenada, March 28, 1796, to Lieutenant-General Sir Ralph Abercromby, K. B. has been tranſmitted by the latter to the Right Hon. Henry Dundas, One of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State.

I Had the Honor of writing to your Excellency on the 24th Inſtant; that Day I got on Shore the Detachments of the 8th and 63d Regiments, with a Part of the 3d or Buffs: I alſo got Two Six-Pounders and a Five and Half Inch Howitzer to a Ridge South of Port Royal, and diſtant about 1000 Yards; a Battery was made in the Night, by the great Exertions of Brevet Major O'Mara, of the 38th Regiment, ſo that by Day Light it opened upon the Enemy's Redoubt. We ſaw the Howitzer diſconcert them very much; but as it was our Object to cloſe with them as ſoon as poſſible, I had determined to get on the ſame Ridge with them, or, if I ſaw an Opening, to attempt the Redoubt by Aſſault: For this Purpoſe I thought it neceſſary to try to diſlodge ſome ſtrong Parties of the Enemy, which we ſaw poſted on the Heights on our Left, as if intending to turn or diſtreſs that Flank; I accordingly detached a ſtrong Black Corps, with 50 of the 88th Regiment, the Whole under Major Houſton; owing to the Difficulty of the Ground, it was near Two Hours before they could get near the Enemy, when a heavy but diſtant Fire commenced on both Sides. I had previouſly concerted with him, that in caſe of attaining a particular Point, which would have covered our Approach to Port Royal, he was to make a Signal, on which the Light Company of the Buffs, the Detachments of the 8th and 63d Regiments, under the Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Dawſon, were to advance, while the Part of the Battalion of the Buffs that had landed were to form a Reſerve, the Whole under Brigadier-General Campbell; but ſo far from diſlodging the Enemy, I ſaw with Regret our Black Corps and the 88th Regiment retiring, Major Houſton having tried, without Succeſs, to accompliſh the Object he was ſent on: This obliged me to detach the 8th Regiment to ſupport them, which it did effectually. At this Moment an alarming Fire broke out in our Rear, near the Place where all the Stores we had landed were depoſited; but by the Exertions of our People, under the Orders of Lieutenant-Colonel Dyott, they were all preſerved. In the Midſt of thoſe untoward Circumſtances we heard a Firing from our Ships of War that lay at Anchor, and were ſoon informed it was at Two French Schooners that were making into Marquis; the Truth of this was ſoon confirmed, for we ſaw them enter and anchor. I had one of the Six-Pounders turned on them, as they were well within Reach, but unluckily we never ſtruck them. The Situation of Affairs was now ſo critical that an Inſtant was not to be loſt. I accordingly directed Brigadier-General Campbell to proceed to the Aſſault, and I brought up every Thing in my Power to ſupport him: He therefore advanced with only the Buffs and 63d Regiment, the 8th having, as I before ſtated, been detached on another Service. I ordered up Half of the 29th Regiment to replace them, and Half of the 9th alſo to aſſiſt if neceſſary; but the 29th, that I had to bring from Grand Bacolet, though they came as ſoon as poſſible, did not join him till after the Buffs had met with a Check, from the Advantage the Enemy had of the Ground, and from a very galling Fire to which they were expoſed; they however ſoon formed again under the Cover of a Hedge, and being then joined by the 29th Regiment, under Captain Clavy, Brigadier-General Campbell ordered the Whole to advance to the Aſſault, which they did in the moſt determined Manner, led by the Brigadier himſelf. They ſoon gained the Top of the Ridge, the Enemy then ran towards their Redoubt, and were followed by our People, who ſcrambled in at the Embraſures, Captain Clavy, of the 29th Regiment, being the firſt that entered. The Enemy then flew in the utmoſt Terror in all Directions, ſome throwing themſelves down Precipices, whilſt others tried to eſcape down the Hill, through Bruſh and other Wood; but there was ſo heavy a Fire kept on them from the Top by our People, that they were forced to try to eſcape along a Bottom, where the Detachment of the Light Dragoons, under Captain Black, and the St. George's Troop of Light Cavalry, under Captain M. Burney, (that had previouſly been formed under the Hill to profit of any Occaſion that offered) ſeeing the Enemy flying, ruſhed on them through a Fire of Grape from the French Schooner, and cut down every Man they ſaw, ſo that very few, if any, eſcaped that had been in Port Royal. That Poſt was chiefly garriſoned, as I hear, from the few Priſoners we have taken, by the Sans Culotte Companies from Guadaloupe. We have to regret the Loſs of ſome gallant Men, and of Two Officers, Major Edwards and Lieutenant Williams of the 3d, who fell, leading their Men on moſt ſpiritedly. Colonel Dawſon, at the Head of the 3d, was wounded through the Neck, before they got to the Bottom of Port Royal Hill. Major Baillie, of the 63d Regiment, was then next in Command to Brigadier-General Campbell, whoſe Conduct the General reports to be ſteady, collected and Officer-like. The Command of the 3d devolved on Captain Blunt, whoſe Light Company, as leading the firſt Attack, ſuffered ſeverely. Both he, as oldeſt Captain, and Lieutenant Gardner, I beg Leave to recommend to your Excellency's Notice and Favor. We have taken but Six Priſoners; among them are the Second and Third in Command to Mr. Joſſey, who commands the People that came from Guadaloupe. Incloſed is a Return of our Killed and Wounded. Our Succeſs at Port Royal has been followed by the Evacuation of Pilot Hill by the Enemy.
